It is up to the district to determine the content of that agreement and there is no obligation for the district to follow the template as part of the purchased curriculum. Since the course is slated for implementation next fall, it is necessary that we clearly define the district's stance on the issue of property rights.

- What business schools do regarding property rights
- Liability
- Overall in favor of the program
- Investor's role and profit
- Making sure that we are asking the right questions
- The appropriate process to move forward will begin with SSCMP and our attorney
- Asking the administration for feedback before it would affect enrollment, hopefully by spring break.

Dr. Riggle discussed possible scenarios that are currently being implemented regarding property rights, for example an art project or an app.
